Monitoring and compliance

Local Authorities have statutory duties to undertake risk assessments at the source of the water supply, on water storage tanks, water treatment equipment and associated pipework including taking water samples for accredited testing and providing results and further advice or enforcement to the relevant person or water user.

Supporting Local Authorities and PWS users

Access Utilities Ltd provide the usual services expected of a water treatment specialist in that we undertake our own site surveys, field testing and accredited testing of PWS's.

We design, install and commission bespoke water treatment systems using WRAS approved products. Once installed, we service and maintain them throughout their natural operational life. We offer free advice and support to our clients, providing the duty of care expected of any company looking after a Private Water Supply.
